Special Dispatch to The Star. ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 18 .- In no game that the Nationals have played this seaon did they give so poor an exhibition as today, when the Browns scored a 9-to-0 victory over them. Whether it was because of the intense heat or some other cause differs little, but the fact remains that it was an off day of the worst kind for the Nationals. To begin with, the spirit which has characterized the team's playing on the present trip was entirely absent. The players went into the game as if it was a labor they had to perform instead of pleasure. The playing was listless in every way, and there was not the slightest evidence of ginger at any stage of the game on the part of Mc-

Perhaps it was because of the rather indifferent manner in which Groom started his game. He was nothing like himself, and conducted himself more like a washerwoman than a major league bitch er, his control was of the worst, and when he did get the ball over it was usu-

Had it not been for some onumental luck the Browns would have got out of several tight places by the crossed the rubber. They had scored three more in the sixth before he got out of the game and Gray came in, and went with him, for the game was then safely lost, and there was no use of takng a chance of injuring the team's only catcher. Harly took Gabby's place and performed in his usual manner, dropping about every ball that was pitched to him, and helping the Browns' score along with a bad peg to first, which cost a run. But the Nationals to get any.

and passed up by every club in the National League as being a has-been, was out three hits charged against m. Just how Spade accomplished this hard to understand, for the ball, when he delivered it to the plate, looked as oig as a cantaloupe, yet the Nationals not connect with it to any efthing special that he put on the sphere r just the listless work of the batsmen perhaps hard to determine, but it is a that about all McAleer's batsmen could do with his delivery was to pop up weak flies. Corbett Says Coast Man Will Battle Johnson as He Fought All Bouts.

OUTBOXING NEGRO IS ALMOST FUTILE

Glove Work All That Is Needed Now to Put Speed Into Undefeated Champion.

By James J. Corbett.

(Copyright, 1910, by the Tribune Company. Us authorized reproductions of this article will be prosecuted.) JEFFRIES' TRAINING CAMP, Rowardennan, Cal., June 13, 1910. Well, three weeks from today will be the Fourth of July, and the great battle for the world's championship will leave the title in the hands of a white man or a black man. It's only natural for me to hope that it will be the white man.

I am spending now my third week in Jeffries' training camp. I have watched him closely and from every angle. I have seen him train before, and I have seen a great many fighters train. I also have boxed with Jeffries many times, and I have fought him twice. The first time is took him twenty-three rounds to win. The second time I lasted ten rounds.

Now, I certainly must know something about Jeffries, and I assure you all who read my weekly letter to this paper that, although I do want Jeffries to win badly, and I dislike Johnson not so much because he is a negro, but simply because I white man, but is better; that, admitting all these things, I am not letting my prejudice interfere with my judgment.

Jeff Training Faithfully.

Now, to begin with, Jeffries is training conscientiously. I never saw a man work DETROIT, Mich., June 18.-Cobb's harder in my life, and I think that all he great running catch that paved the way needs now is a lot of fast boxing. He is featured today's victory of the Detroit strong and has all the strength and endurance that is possible for a human being Americans over the Bostons. With Gardto have. I think he is just a little shy on ner on first and Stahl on second, Lewis the boxing. Of course there are a great drove the ball on a line toward the cormany newspaper men up here. They have been writing that he is faster than Jef-Those tied are: Alexander Smith of the after a hard run, pulled down the ball fries ever was in his life; that he is a great boxer; that he is holding back or his sparring, and eulogizing him to such hanty, who caught both Stahl and Gardan extent that I am afraid they will have Detroit bunched hits in the fifth, when two singles, an error, Cobb's triple and

There are lots of little things of course, that I cannot put in the paper tained all along that I don't want anygoing to try to outbox Johnson, and it would not surprise me if Johnson outwould not surprise me if Johnson out-boxed him, like I did down at Coney Island. I expect Jeffries to outfight him.

If we were boxing with five-ounce gloves instead of ten-ounce gloves, there isn't a man in the training camp that could stand these little punches that they call CHICAGO, June 18.-Chicago pounded on this being a short fight because they think Johnson has good defensive tactics, and he may keep Jeff off for some time before Jeff gets him. Johnson also is a man that weighs a couple of hundred pounds, and he is the strongest, biggest, most clever man that Jeff has met yet. If Jeff wins this fight, which I firmly believe he will, I don't think he is going to going to win it like he won all his fights, by his wonderful aggressive tactics, his wonderful gameness and his wonderful endurance, not overlooking his wonder-

Pace Too Fast for Corbett. I have boxed with Jeff twice now and I decided vesterday it would be best for day with a fresh man every round. I spoke to Jeff about this and he promised him to do. So this morning he made good his word.

He stripped and said, "Now I will-box as long as you want me to." I said. "I'll give you a fresh man every round, but it was unfortunate that I could not box with him myself, for I injured my hand with an upper cut on his head, but I will be all right tomorrow. So he had three lively rounds with Bob Armstrong who, by the way, weighs 215 both hands. I promised to play him a game of handball when he got through, so I said, "Don't you think that is enough for this morning?" "Why, no," he said, "I feel great," and he invited me out to play a game. I did not want to see him work any more, so I told him my hand was too

We had an awful time to stop him from working. As soon as he got through he sat down kidding and talking. I never saw a fellow in such good humor. Well, he has a right to be in a good humor, for he has a couple of the funniest men in the world around him, men who have made thousands of people laugh in the theaters-Willie Collier and Walter Key, the Virginia judge, whom many have seen in vaudeville. They just kept Jeff in the greatest kind of humor. was sorry to see Willie Collier leave

I have persons watching Johnson every day and I know that he is in good condition and is working hard, and on the Fourth of July I think we will have one of the greatest championship battles
